THOUGHT and COMMENT

WHAT NEXT

And we wonder what is coming next:

Back in Baltimore they tied James H. Kingsmore up to the whipping post and the sheriff administered five blows with the cat-o'-nine-tails while two hundred persons, including numerous women and two ministers looked on. Kingsmore had been found guilty of beating his wife.

In our little neighboring city of Pittsburgh a mother has been trying to get a warrant for the arrest of two school teachers for applying the strap to her son. The mother was arrested a short time before for creating a disturbance at the school after her son reported the "verb" treatment. The judge refused the warrant for the teachers stating that he expected to straighten out the entire affair when the mother appeared on the peace charge.

"Use the wood shed and hair brush methods of the days of our grandmothers," said Dr. Eva C. Reid child training expert of the University of California in an address at Riverside a few days ago.

Dr. Reid blamed lax discipline and the divorce problem as being responsible for the present "juvenile delinquency."

"There is little danger of destroying a child's spirit and initiative by the proper application of the hair brush at the proper time," Dr. Reid declared during her address.

In spite of all the talk about the younger generation going to the bow-wows we don't believe that at heart the children are any different than they were in the days when we used to play hookey to go fishing or watch the circus come to town.

After all it is not the method but the result that really matters. Circumstances alter all cases and where the back of a hair brush properly applied might turn the trick in one case it would be a complete failure in another.

We are inclined to believe that life is becoming standardized to such an extent that individuality is being completely smothered. Our colleges are turning out students in the same way that Ford turns out automobiles. The engines are constructed in just one way with a certain amount of horsepower, the body is polished in a certain way and the tops all look alike. In fact the tires on the wheels are even guaranteed to run a certain number of miles before getting down to the fabric.

If parents are going to listen to one method of education, one type of correction, etc., it won't be long before the date of death, marriage etc. will be set down in a little book on the day the child is born.

Giving individuality a chance might help to correct some of our so called evils.

DAUGHERTY IS INDICTED ON FRAUD CHARGE

Two Others Are Also Indicted; are Charged with Accepting a $391,000 Bribe

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, May 7.—Harry M. Daugherty, Attorney General of the United States during the Harding administration, was indicted for alleged conspiracy to defraud the government by a federal grand jury here today.

He is charged with splitting a $391,000 fee with Jesse Smith, his "confidential agent and representative," Colonel Thomas W. Miller, former Alien Property Custodian, and John T. King, former republican national committeeman from Connecticut, both of whom were indicted with Daugherty today.

This huge sum, with an additional $50,000 divided between John T. King and Jesse Smith, was paid to the alleged conspirators by Richard Merton, multi-millionaire Frankfort, Germany, metal magnate, for approving at $7,000,000 claim filed with the alien property custodian by German owners of forty-nine per cent of the capital stock of the American Metal company which had been seized by the government during the World War, the government declared.

The department of Justice has traced $90,000 of the liberty bonds to Smith in addition to a cash payment King alleges he gave him.

Daugherty, appointed Attorney General by President Harding in recognition of his services in securing the presidential nomination for Harding in 1920, had a stormy career as a cabinet member.

Proceeds from $40,000 of the identical liberty bonds which formed a part of the settlement, have been traced to the bank account of Harry M. Daugherty.

A $50,000 block of the same liberty bonds have been in the possession of Colonel Miller, John T. King has admitted receiving $112,000 in liberty bonds and $25,000 in cash for his part in the transaction. King introduced Merton to Colonel Miller and Jesse Smith.

Mrs. Dodge Will Marry H. Dillman

DETROIT, May 7.—Hugh Dillman, former husband of Marjorie Rambeau will marry tomorrow the richest widow in the world, Mrs. Horace E. Dodge.

The ceremony will be performed at the home of Mrs. Dodge's son Horace E. Dodge, Jr.

Mrs. Dodge was one of the principal heirs of the Dodge estate including the auto manufacturing company's stock which was sold last year for $140,000,000.

Cow Is Happy; Has Triplets

BY UNIVERSAL SERVICE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 7.—Something new in the way of California record-breaking performances developed today when the state department of agriculture announced that a cow at Chula Vista, San Diego county, has given birth to triplets. The mother and her three calves, all reported as "doing nicely," are the property of Mrs. Charles Darling.

Irvin Bonham, Fourth and Bush streets, San Pablo, has returned to his home from the Cottage hospital, where he had been convalescing following an automobile accident a week ago. He is reported to be doing nicely and will soon be able to be about.

U. S. LABOR TO JURY TO HEAR AID STRIKERS BEAUTY TRIAL

By Universal Service

OAKLAND, Calif., May 7.—Miss Fay Lanphier, "Miss America of 1925" will let a jury decide if her nostrils do not match and whether or not her hips are out of line.

The Oakland beauty who won first place last year in the Atlantic city beauty contest through her attorney today demanded and was granted a trial by jury of the civil suit brought by Louis Jacobs, who alleges he acted as manager for Miss Lanphier on her triumphant tour to Atlantic City.

Jacobs seeks a share of income derived by the beauty queen since she won the title.

In his suit, filed here in February, he charged Miss Lanphier won the title by vamping the judges, and he said that her physical charms were marred by imperfections in symmetry that should have cost her first place.

Secretary Citrine of the British Trade Union Congress sent this acknowledgement:

"Thanks for cable encouragement. Movement absolutely solid. Greatest demonstration working class solidarity in history. Thanks for offer of assistance. Prompt financial assistance most practical."

Fire Sweeps Inn Owned by Ford

Official Paper Of The City Of Richmond, California

"I WILL"

In submitting so long to the terrorism of gangsters the citizens of Chicago have displayed a spinelessness which would shame any other community in the world. But the slaughter of an official, presumably as an act of vengeance for his assiduous labors in the enforcement of so well recognized a law as that against murder, transcends anything in savagery that has come about since rival beer runners expanded and glorified previous attempts at crime.

The situation from an official standpoint appears hopeless. Not a one of the possibly valuable witnesses could be induced to volunteer testimony; nor could it be expected that any of them would make known their information by persuasion. A law that cannot protect its own minions from brutal murder is scarcely a guarantee of serenity to the temerous witness who might unveil something about the gangsters.

So far the official investigation has resulted in failure to disclose material facts about the murder of William H. McSwiggin, the assistant prosecutor. And time will certainly not cure the defects in memory and information. On the contrary, the passage of few hours will result in the speedy deportation of possibly dangerous witnesses, or false in their murder or their binding by unbreakable ties to the gangs that perpetrated this outrage.

In Chicago, the underworld does not recognize the right inherent in the civilized community to protect itself against the scaly works of criminals. Almost everywhere else, the criminal pays the public official, the juror, the witness the compliment of being within legal right in all ordinary acts to curb lawbreaking and violence. But in its worst days, Sicily contended with no Mafia vendetta so dire as that which faces a Chicagoan who undertakes to straighten out his community.

If Chicago would act on its widely known motto, compounded of fortitude and determination it would take such summary action as would leave that place spotless except for the spilled blood of dead crooks.

THE FIREBRAND

Speaking recently in his home town, M. Poincaré, war president of France and former premier, warned his countrymen against putting too much faith in Germany's professions of bona fides.

"We must first look to ourselves for protection," said Poincaré. "We must rely on our patriotism and moral and physical vigor. To be good citizens of the world, we must first be good Frenchmen."

There is much truth in that; but it is only to such fire-eaters as Raymond Poincaré that being a good Frenchman is synonymous with constantly pin-pricking Germany. A rational Frenchman would conclude that the best thing he could do for his country would be to encourage friendly relations with its neighbors. The fact that "France has been obliged to defend the main clauses of the Versailles treaty against the permanent ill-will of our former enemies and the constant indifference of former friends" is due to nothing but the unreasonable attitude taken by such French politicians as Poincaré, who do not seem to know that the war is over.

What he calls the indifference of former friends is rather the impatience of people still friendly to France with the provocative course which France has followed until comparatively recently. After the war Germany went to work to retrieve her fallen fortunes. She has displayed commendable industry at home and maintained a foreign policy that cannot be fairly criticized. Germany's record since the war cannot be

OUR FIRST PRESIDENT

The States were united, but there were two political parties: the Federalists who had voted for the adoption of the Constitution, and the Anti-Federalists who had voted against it. The Federalists believed that the country needed a strong government, one able to make its power respected both at home and abroad, and after the expiration of this party it was succeeded by the National Republican party, followed by the Whig party. In 1856 it became the present Republican party. The Anti-Federalists, however, believed such a strong government dangerous to the liberties of the people and opposed the Constitution until it was amended. This party later became known as the Democratic party.

However, both parties united in electing Washington to be the first President of the United States and when after four years his term expired, they again united to re-elect him. New York was then the capital of the country. In 1789 Washington took his oath of office standing on the balcony of a building in front of Federal Hall, on the northeast corner of Nassau street and the famous Wall street, in New York. There was an immense multitude present, and amidst ringing of bells and firing of cannon could be heard the shout: "Long live George Washington, President of the United States!"

Washington immediately chose four eminent men as members of his Cabinet or private Council, to assist him in performing his presidential duties. Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, was appointed Secretary of State, to attend to the foreign business and relations of the government. Alexander Hamilton was appointed Secretary of the Treasury. General Henry Knox of Massachusetts, one of the leaders in the Revolution was appointed Secretary of War. John Jay of New York, one of the commissioners who with Franklin had secured and signed the treaty of peace with Great Britain, was given the very important office of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Nature's Oddities

The farmer's progress in mastering nature for the use of man is strikingly shown in a series of horticultural research studies by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation.

VII. CHERVIL

The Parsley family are old and appreciated residents of this country, but not every one is familiar with two other branches of the family which not so long ago emigrated from Southern Europe. These are the two Chervils whose first names are vegetable and turnip-rooted, respectively. Vegetable Chervil, which has made the more acquaintances so far, is grown exactly like parsley and like it is used for garnishing and soups.

But the turnip-rooted Chervil still has its way to make. It should be doubly appreciated as it serves the housewife from top to bottom. Its leaves are used like parsley or like the vegetable Chervil, while its root closely resembles the carrot and is prepared in much the same way.

The roots should be scrubbed, cooked in boiling water without cutting, and may then be served, or sliced and fried much like parsnips.

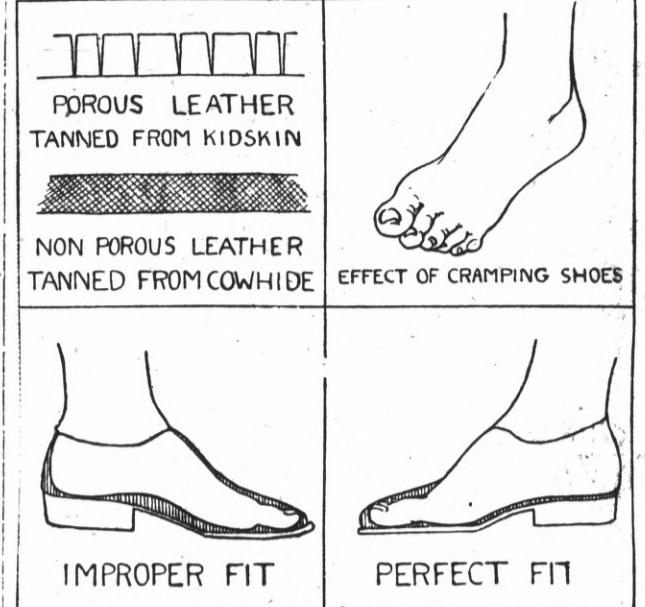

"What is correct footwear and to what extent do shoes affect the health of the body in general?" Doctors will tell you that this question is asked of them more frequently than any other, and in most instances the physical ailment under consideration may be directly traced to the wearing of improper shoes.

Contrary to the belief that women habitually abuse their feet through vanity, figures show that men are the greatest sufferers from this evil. This is easily explained by the fact that women have become leather conscious. They know that some leathers are stiff and binding—that that they make an air-tight prison in which the foot can neither breathe nor live healthfully. Recent statistics have shown the steady increase in the popularity of kid leather until at the present time, nearly 90% of the shoes sold by dealers and worn by women are made of kidskin!

Men are just beginning to realize that they can enjoy these same advantages without forfeiting anything in style or appearance because kid is so flexible and pliant that it can be adapted to any last or pattern. The tiny pores so evident in kid leather readily identify it. A person of taste would show you that they are constricted like an inverted funnel, preventing the entrance of all dampness and cold in the winter, and all heat and humidity in the summer, at the same time permitting the natural moisture and heat of the foot to leave the shoe forever. It is this superfluous heat and moisture, when confined in an air-tight shoe, that causes tired, swollen, painful feet and that, in turn, results in general physical fatigue. Just like a living creature, a worth-while habit is to change to another pair of shoes before dinner in the evening. Every pair of shoes affects a different set of muscles and this change is restful. It is also an economy to change from one pair to another, for shoes last much longer if they are permitted to rest occasionally.

NEW SEASON'S FURNISHINGS GIVE PLACE TO EMBROIDERIES

Towels for Family and Guest-Room Use Made Lovelily by Dainty Bits of Decoration

By MONA MULLEN

THE housefurnishing needs of the new season are partly met in the new embroideries, for they may be adapted to a wide variety of uses. Much attention is paid to the latest motifs for towels, because of the growing custom to add a touch of handwork to towels, both for family and guest-room use.

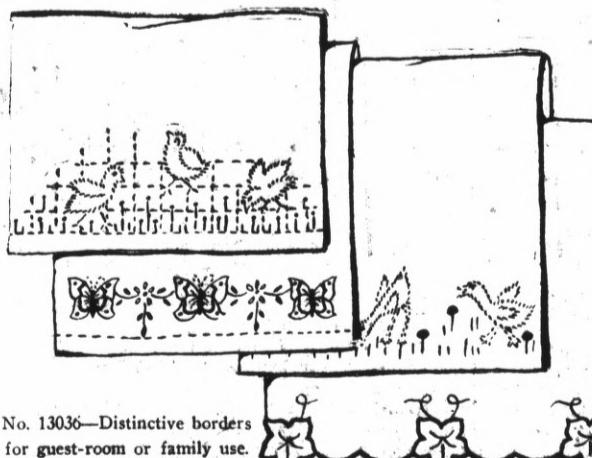

Even a simple cotton or union towel is prettier for being glorified with a little embroidery. No longer does the efficient and dainty housewife reserve embroideries for genuine linens and expensive materials.

The four towel borders pictured are supplied in a transfer which comes in blue only. The butterfly design is developed in running, buttonhole, and solid satin stitches. The body, center, and antennae of the insect are brown, the wings yellow with pink dots, and the flowers in pink with yellow centers. The leaves are green.

For the chickie pattern running stitches are appropriate and easily made. The chickies are yellow, with black eyes and bills. Black is used for the fence, or, if preferred, brown may be substituted. The stems are green, and the flowers may be in pink, blue, or lavender. French knots. The duckie border is much the same as the chickie border, and one may change the color of the flowers to suit the individual taste.

The leaf design with the scalloped border is developed in medium blue buttonhole stitch, with the centers and tops of the leaves in running stitches of the same color.

METAL, THE GREAT CIVILIZER

One who has traveled through the sections of our country which produce our gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc ores, must gain respect for the men who invest their money and lives in producing these invaluable metals.

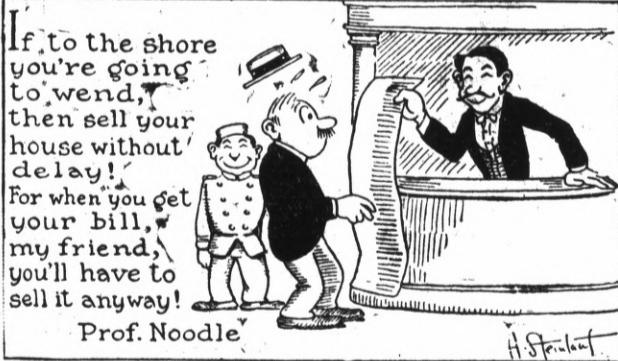

There would be no civilization without such mineral production. No industries, in the interest of national welfare, deserve greater encouragement by the people and the government than do these branches of mining.

Maybe those Japs who are supposed to be slipping into Mexico are only trying to see what is going on at Tia Juana.

EATING AS A FINE ART RECEIVES NEW INTERPRETATION

YOU may study the menu card very expertly but are you really an epicure?

For centuries the epicure has stood for all that was envied by the men who would make eating one of the fine arts. He played an important part in history and was a dictator in the choice of rare foods.

He lived for taste's sake.

But eating as a fine art today has a different interpretation. Not only what to eat, but how you eat it, has entered the equation. At first this question of "how" concerned itself largely with good manners, but more recently attention has been brought to the question of eating scientifically. The epicure of today knows what and how to eat for health's sake.

But these modern "epicures" are few. Rarely do people really know how to eat correctly. Even when foods containing the proper nourishment are chosen, it is a rare thing to find a person who really chews his food.

This chewing serves not only as a means of masticating food to prepare it for the stomach. The actual process of moving the jaws requires the gum muscles and jaw, face and neck muscles to work. The blood circulates freer and faster, making for throwing off waste and dead tissues. Muscle movement makes the bones increase in size and thickness.

Weariness after any regular meal reveals the lazy jaw. And it is in the lazy jaw that the sick gums and decayed teeth logically grow. The habits of years, however, cannot be cured over night.

While waiting for the food, the muscles to develop slowly, gum massage should be augmented by night and morning treatments. This is done with the finger and consists of a gentle stroking of the gums, using a bit of tooth paste if desired. A small tooth brush may also be used afterwards.

W. B. A. to Attend Special Mother's Day Services

The members of the W. B. A. are interested by their president to meet at the Unity Truth Center on March street and Nevins Avenue Sunday at 10:45 to attend the Mother's Day services at the center in a body. Mrs. A. P. Klym will be chief speaker of the evening.

The officers of the association met yesterday at the home of Mrs. W. L. Larabee, 443 Tenth Street, where plans were made to observe Mother's Day at the next meeting of the association.

"Mother's Day," he said, "is a wonderful attribute to one of life's greatest ideals and that like all great ideals it is a glad messenger to mankind. America is hungry for just such wonderful ideals. In the clash and grind of business there is a periodic pause for all men raise their eyes, seeking for higher ideals."

He said that the more we turn our thoughts upon such days the richer will grow our loyalty, our kindness, our sympathy, our loves and we will the nearer approach the great characters of yesterday such as our great Lincoln.

Only boys whose parents are born in a foreign country are eligible for entrance into the club.

Trousers instead of skirts is the newest feature in the latest negligees. This one, worn by Estelle Clark, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, in her latest production, "The Boy Friend," is fashioned of satin chiffon and silver lace. The underlip with the trousers fits the body snugly. From the V neck line silver lace extends, tapering into the inner seam of the trousers.

With more than one hundred visiting star points from various Eastern chapters of the Eastern Star and many grand officers and patrons and patrons in attendance the Eastern Star last night gave a reception in honor of the five star points of the local chapter, at the Masonic hall.

Misses Nellie O'Connor of Pinole, who was severely injured in an automobile accident at Forty-eighth street and San Pablo avenue Oakland Wednesday afternoon, is reported to be slightly improved, according to reports received from the Fabiola hospital, Oakland, where Mrs. O'Connor was taken from the Emergency hospital.

Mrs. O'Connor with George F. O'Connor were on their honeymoon, having been married the day before by Justice of the Peace Frank Glass in Martinez. While driving in Oakland their car crashed into an electric train of the Key System Transit company and both were thrown clear of the machine. Mrs. O'Connor sustained a basal fracture of the skull and O'Connor sustained a sprained wrist and minor injuries, according to a report received from the Oakland Emergency hospital where they received emergency treatment following the accident.

O'Connor is well known in Pinole, having lived there for some time and having recently purchased a new home there. Mrs. O'Connor was formerly Mrs. Nellie Tempton of Oakland.

The program included a special feature by six students of Muriel Burdon of the Grant school; a dramatic reading by Mrs. Virginia Bryant, Misses Margaret Carey, Miss Mary Purvis, Mrs. Nora Purvis and Mrs. Lois Wood.

Star points of last year who assisted in the events of the evening included: Mrs. Virginia Bryant, Mrs. Margaret Carey, Miss Mary Purvis; Mrs. Nora Purvis and Mrs. Lois Wood.

Mrs. and Mrs. T. J. McGinty and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Caudle of this city entertained Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Smith of San Quentin in this city on Thursday.

Smith is the warden at San Quentin prison and Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Governor Richardson.

The Redmen's carnival that has been in operation for the past few days has proved a big success, according to the committee that is in charge of the affair.

Crowds have flocked the tent throughout the time the event has been in operation.

The circus acts have proved successful and a large crowd is always on hand to witness them.

It is said to be the most realistic '49 celebration that has been ever held in this large community. Those participating in the event are dressed as Spaniards of the old California days and have added atmosphere to the event.

The most popular booth at the place is the "County Court." It is here that the "offending" one is fined. Those entering the tent are warned to watch their steps as a "cop" is much in evidence.

No meeting of the San Pablo P. T. A. was held yesterday because of conflicting dates. The next session will be held on May 21, at the school and the president requests that all of the members be present.

Lee Descendent Receives Aid to Divorce Banker

HOUSTON, Tex., May 7.—A "pot" made up by influential Wall Street friends maneuvered sagaciously has provided Eleanor Elaine Lee Harris of New York $600,000 with which to fight back at overly D. Harris of the National City Bank of New York City, the husband whom she met in Houston and married in 1915.

"I already have gathered enough evidence to have the court set aside the verdict and judgment in Harris' annulment suit against me," the beautiful woman who claims descendency from the family of General Robert E. Lee, although she admits being born out of wedlock, declared here today.

Mrs. Harris came to Houston from Austin where she was granted an audience with Governor Myrl Ferguson, whom she met in 1915 when James E. Ferguson was Governor of Texas. She attended governor Jim's inaugural ball as an honor guest from San Antonio where she made her debut. It is believed that the present Texas governor's deposition will be offered in an attempt to refute the charges against Mrs. Harris.

FAVORITES OF OLD ARE BACK AT CALIFORNIA

The Marshall Neilan of the old days of "Duty," "Rebecca of Sunnyside Farm," and "Minnie" is back again. His latest picture, "Mike," which he made for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is playing at the California Theatre, and in it Neilan again revert to the type of picture that made him famous as a director. His famous scenes of horseback riding, sprinkled with a generous supply of heart interest, are all in evidence, proving that with this type of picture Neilan never has been and will not soon be surpassed.

The entire picture covers a period of only two days in the lives of an old section hand, his three young children, his elder daughter, Alice, her sweetheart, and the inhabitants of the little desert town of Terlingua, Tex. With these characters, Neilan has made a picture that for sheer humor and thrills challenges any ever produced. In fact, when the audience is not doubled up with laughter it is kept in suspense by the dramatic scenes with suspense.

Charlie Murray, that lovable old character actor, plays "Clancy," the father of Mike, and is as Irish as his name. He seems to have appeared to such advantage. With Murray is another well known star, Ford Sterling, as "Schultz." Both contribute to the general fun of the picture, playing their roles in all seriousness, thus making them doubly funny.

Nolan introduces a new find as Mike in the person of the pugnacious Sally O'Neill. She exhibits a rare beauty and an individuality that will doubtless carry her far. William Haines plays opposite her as "Harlan" in his usual capable manner.

Other members of the cast that deserve special mention are Ned Sparks, Marceline Day, Diana Fowley, Dick Janier, George Wilfrid Lucas, and Sam De Grasse. Other features include O. Henry's story "Elsie in New York," "Song Car-Tune," "Ta-Ra-Ra-Bum-Der," "International News"; and on the side—exciting only Helen Marilie Ralph in "Songs and Dances," assisted by Larry Caneo, and the

Professor Scores Fundamentalism In U. S. Politics

BERKELEY, Cal., May 7.—Political fundamentalism was denounced as more harmful to the progress of the American people than religious fundamentalism in a startling address delivered here before the Phi Beta Kappa society of the University of California last night by Dr. William Munro, professor of municipal government at Harvard University.

"Religion is not the only field in which fundamentalism challenges science," Dr. Munro declared, "there is more danger in the political than in the religious thought of the American people today. It works far greater injury to the cause of national progress and to the interests of the social order.

"What we need most, is that the oncoming generation shall make war on fundamentalism in policies just as scholars of all types have been assailing fundamentalism in Religion.

"We study the constitution in the schools and colleges with the same uncritical spirit that characterizes the fundamentalist's approach to the first chapter in Genesis."

"The figures show that what we call the 'will of the people' is regularly expressed by less than 25 percent of our adult citizens."

"Even the most casual student of our political psychology must have observed that there are literally millions of Americans who decline to accept anything on faith in the realm of religion but who do not have the slightest compunction about swallowing all the catch-words, formulas, slogans and half-truths that make up political creed."

"They scoff at the miracles of the Holy Writ, but they are continually looking for the miraculous in politics.

"The modernist in religion wonders how anybody, in spite of astronomers and geologists, can believe that this world was created in six days of 24 hours each.

"But he finds no difficulty in believing that the constitution of the United States was struck off as a finished job in four months.

"There is that dogma of human equality. Yet a moment's consideration will convince anyone that this proposition is absolutely at variance with everything else in the realm of human knowledge. Men are equal neither in body or in mind."

"Remember 'The Hottentot,' Ince's hilariously hysterical funny racing comedy that was the laugh hit of the past season? 'The Galloping Fish' is faster and funnier and that's saying a lot.

"The Galloping seal playing the title role of the new production.

"His name is 'Freddie' and as a comedian he is second to none. That seal is so intelligent he is able to make the trained seals on the screen as funny as they are spectacular.

"The producer, not satisfied with a star who is a whole show in himself, surrounded him with a scintillating cast of the newest comedians. Louise Fazenda playing the role of an ingenue ensnaring 'Divine Venus'; Syd Chaplin as a timid little newlywed who accidentally gets all entangled with her; Fred Stoeckel trying to keep the whole show as the manager fiance of 'Venus'; Chester Conklin swelling the chorus of laughter as a sour-faced taxi driver rejoicing in the name of 'Dad'; and they keep you laughing from start to finish and make you wish there were fourteen reels instead of seven.

"A spectacular flood adds thrills to the laughs and there is romance besides for those who crave the lighter side of life. Del Andrews directed the comedy, which offers the best entertainment of the season.

"Other features include 'For Sadie's Sake,' a Jimmie Adams comedy; 'Felix Uses His Head,' a Felix the cat cartoon.

For about six years I suffered with a pain in my heart. I could do any heavy lifting, although I tried many methods of physical exercise, obtained no relief whatever. I took the FONG WAN HERBS for two months, and I am better, but even after this time, the pain in my side had not abated. Therefore, I refused to sacrifice my teeth.

Although I continued to treat with different doctors, I was unable to work. At last a friend, Mr. L. Smith of Richmond, who had been relieved of heart trouble by Fong Wan Herbs, urged me to try them. Now, after six weeks of herb treatments, I am feeling fine again and am back to work. Standard Oil Co., Richmond.

CHRONIC CASE OF ASTHMA RELIEVED

Berkeley, Calif., April 30, 1926.

I suffered from Asthma for more than twenty years. I also had trouble with my Kidneys. During this long period of time, many physicians failed to help me.

I finally got so bad that I could neither lie down nor sleep.

Now, after I have taken six weeks of the Fong Wan Herbs, I feel fine again.

Although I am 73 years of age, the herbs have helped me just the same as though I were a young person.

RUTH INJURED
Four major tennis players were injured during games yesterday. The East, Babe Ruth was one of the unfortunate ones. During the game with Washington he collided with Lawren in right field and although he was not seriously injured he had to be replaced.

BATTING NELSON IN TROUBLE
Battling Nelson, the one time world's high school champion, is being sought at Helena, Montana, on charges of passing bad checks on merchants there. According to the authorities, Nelson recently gave a lecture in that city and during his return there he passed several bad checks. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

HOFF
Charlie Hoff seems to have raised a ruckus over not appearing in the P. A. A. meet today at San Francisco. William Pugot, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Union, has announced that if Charlie is unfit for action into the event, the Union will do everything to help him, but Hoff has but a few hours to decide what is going to do.

OAKS WIN
Stock in the Oaks are taking a decided raise since the Acorns have made such a good showing against the Hollywood All-Stars. At the present time the Oaks are in the third and are two games behind the league leading Seattle Indians. The Oaks have yet to win a Sunday afternoon ball game, and when they do, it will bring them further up the list to success.

TRACK MEET TODAY
The track meet of all meets will be staged today at the Kenwood stadium at San Francisco under the banner of the P. A. A. What is expected to be the event of the day is the relay when the Stanford team, captained by Lawrence Habcock will try to break all existing records for the relay event.

BERLENBACH-DELANEY

Paul Berlenbach and Jack Delaney signed for a return world's high school weight title bout, according to promoter Hubert Gugay. The two are scheduled to meet at Elberts field, June 22. This match will be just ten days after Berlenbach's title fight with young Stripling of Georgia.

CRAIG

Coach Ed Leader brought the University of Washington strke to Yale three years ago and since his advent Yale has never lost a varsity race. Coates, Spuhler and Lunt have also drilled the Penn eight in the western style.

DICK GLENDON

Coach Dick Glendon, formerly the Navy Mentor but now of Columbia has brought a Columbia eight to the Housatonic, which has been drilled in the Annapolis style, which created a sensation on the Hudson recently.

Nine crews will compete in the regatta tomorrow, with each of the three colleges, participating entering a freshman, second varsity and varsity eight.

TO MOVE SIGN

Engineers of the Southern Pacific company were in this city yesterday going over the route to the Richmond-San Francisco auto ferry to discover a more advantageous location for the huge sign to direct motorists to the ferry.

According to L. G. Eby, local agent of the company, every means is being used by the company in an effort to increase the business at the local ferry and one of the first moves is to change the present sign, which is not believed to be in the best possible position obtainable.

Pullman Nine To Open Season Here Tomorrow

The Oakland Colored Giants formerly the Pierce Giants will tangle with the Pullman Champion nine tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock as the opening game for the season for ten Pullmans.

The Pullman nine is to blossom forth in its new uniforms at this game and fans who supported the team last year are anticipating the appearance of their idols.

Several "downs" who help make up the aggregation of the Oakland nine are expected to put plenty of pep into the game tomorrow afternoon.

The lineups of the teams are: Giants—Richards, c; Smith, Reed, p; Hamilton, 1b; Walker, 2b; Brown, 3b; Lumpkin, ss; Collins, lf; Meadows, cf; Hancock, rf; Read, utility.

NINE UNIVERSITY
CREWS TO COMPETE IN EASTERN RACES

(By Universal Service)

DERBY, Conn., May 7.—The fourth annual regatta, between Yale, Pennsylvania, and Columbia, to hold over the Housatonic river course tomorrow afternoon, will be a test of two distinctive American rowing styles.

Coach Ed Leader brought the University of Washington strke to Yale three years ago and since his advent Yale has never lost a varsity race. Coates, Spuhler and Lunt have also drilled the Penn eight in the western style.

Coach Dick Glendon, formerly the Navy Mentor but now of Columbia has brought a Columbia eight to the Housatonic, which has been drilled in the Annapolis style, which created a sensation on the Hudson recently.

Nine crews will compete in the regatta tomorrow, with each of the three colleges, participating entering a freshman, second varsity and varsity eight.

TO MOVE SIGN

Engineers of the Southern Pacific company were in this city yesterday going over the route to the Richmond-San Francisco auto ferry to discover a more advantageous location for the huge sign to direct motorists to the ferry.

According to L. G. Eby, local agent of the company, every means is being used by the company in an effort to increase the business at the local ferry and one of the first moves is to change the present sign, which is not believed to be in the best possible position obtainable.

Referee Makes Hit With Fans

For the first time in many bouts the crowd at Winters' boxing pavilion last night were absolutely satisfied with a referee. Frankie Nell, former bantamweight champion of the world was the referee who had the entire crowd with him. He made decisions that were decisions and the crowd agreed with his work. Everyone left the hall satisfied with the result of the five bouts, and the manner in which they were managed.

Blondy Villalovos is scheduled to do the hurling or the local team and the rest of the line up will be: Williams, ss; Glum, 2b; Chavez, rf; Hirth, 3b; De Baere, 1b; Malliani, cf; Gordon, lf.

Political Bee Starts Buzzing as the Date for Primaries Draws Near

Over the signature "EAVES-PEPPER" in the San Pablo Bee this week, comes a political article from Martinez that is most interesting. Most of the information contained in it is new to most of the citizens of Richmond. Who the writer is is shrouded in mystery, but the individual apparently is well connected with politics and the inner workings of the courthouse officials. It would appear that the writer is "Telling tales out of school" for the reason for hiding his identity.

Here is the article as it appeared in yesterday's Bee:

MARTINEZ, May 4.—Editor San Pablo Bee—The primary election this year will be held on the last Tuesday in August, which will be the last day of that month. Petitions for nominations can not be circulated earlier than 65 days before the election, and they must be filed at least 25 days before August 31. This is information that is of value to all candidates.

With the meeting of the board of supervisors this week, and many who have visited the county seat from all parts of the county, I have been able to get some information that would indicate, that notwithstanding the "courthouse combination" has decreed there shall be no other candidates, they are keeping above a smoldering volcano while the smoke which emanated at a most unexpected time. Altho things are apparently quiet and serene on the surface, the air is surcharged with the feeling of resentment at the attitude of "courthouse" men.

Officials assume, The underground rumor picked up at all points is, the voters are going to have something to say to whom will occupy the offices.

One of the prospective candidates who seems to be most feared is

John Miller of Richmond. It is generally conceded he is very strong and while he may not enter the fight with the Surevity, it is likely he would do so either for assessor or tax collector.

Every precinct in the county is friendly to Miller's waiting for him to say the word.

A Richmond man, who was here this week, told me that General Imbach had definitely decided to make the race for the office of county clerk. For nearly three years Imbach traveled every section of Contra Costa county and associated with practically every voter more or less. It is he who is daily receiving letters from all over the country urging him to remain in the race and offering him their support. Imbach is prominent financially, being a member of the Knights of Pythias, Elks, and a Veteran of Foreign Wars and saw service over seas.

The Sheriff's fight General Veale will be a candidate to succeed himself. H. O. Watson is another man in the same position.

There are two other candidates under cover in Richmond who may declare themselves.

In the district attorney's fight some interesting information came this week. It is given to your readers for what it is worth. Arch Tinning will make the race again. Delap is said will retire at the end of his present term, and Hoey will possibly defer away with the talk that Hoey is a candidate himself for district attorney. Tom Carlson is in a receptive mood for the office, and Issac Coffey may also toss his hat in the ring. Both men have strength naturally, and some say Coffey could carry off Richmond with 1500 to 2000 majority.

In the fight for supervisor of the first district, which takes in Richmond and the western end of the county, there is likely to be pretty sharp Zeb Knott will be nominated by the Republicans and Henry Johnston will be his opponent.

It is rumored that the corporation support that Sharkey had during his campaign for State Senator with Johnston as his opponent will be given to him this year. Johnston carried Richmond two years ago by 200 when Sharkey's adherents were claiming it for him by 900 to 1000.

Possibly one of the most talked of offices in the county at the present time is that of coroner, held by Charles F. Doherty. There is talk that he will have no opponents. Frank Wilson, formerly of Winchendon, also Aubrey Wilson of San Leandro, and Dr. S. G. Gregor of Pittsburgh. The support of the undertakers of the county means a great deal in this race and just where it will go is a guess.

Information was passed along this week that George Allen of Allen's Garage of this city would be a candidate against Charles H. Hayden for supervisor in district No. 3, the district takes in Martinez, Concord, Walnut Creek, Pinole, and surrounding countryside.

Allen is active in civic affairs and is the present head of the Martinez Chamber of Commerce.

The distinguished attorney Hiram Jacobs of Richmond and J. E. Reddick of this city have been mentioned as possible candidates for superior judge.

Personal Attention to Every Customer

Butter Two Bits a Pound

This would be true if the price of butter had followed that of electricity since 1913. But butter is higher now. Almost everything is higher. The average for all commodities is 65% higher than before the War, while electricity is lower.

California's best brains have worked on electrical problems. New machines, new methods, new ideas have been perfected under our system of customer ownership.

Electric motors in factories—electric pumps on the farms, electric washing machines, irons, vacuum cleaners, toasters, etc., in the homes—electric service everywhere. These are the benefits resulting from the business ability, vision and hard work of the electrical pioneers, and yet the cost is lower.

Think of this the next time you buy a pound of butter.

FACTS!

The cost of living is 65% higher than in 1913. The cost of Electricity is less than in 1913. Are you taking full advantage of this wonderful cheap service?
